ABSTRACT

We are proud that with the cooperation and efforts of the editorial members of Journal of Biology and Today's World (JBTW), this journal was successfully indexed in the Scopus in 2016. This journal is an Iranian Journal that could continue its activities firmly and in a high quality despite lack of support from the Iranian government. All researchers in the world are invited to submit their valuable manuscripts in the field of biomedical sciences to JBTW. Editorial members of this journal are doing their utmost to have high quality referees and publication. It should be noted that this journal is currently beyond of all developing countries in terms of infrastructure software quality, management and publication design. This report is provided about the members that have most cooperation in this biomedical journal.
